Foreword

THE purpose of this book is to offer to the prospective builder at a very nominal price, a carefully selected group of working drawings for small homes, duplexes, courts and garage apartments. The drawings illustrated herein are a select group chosen from several hundred original ideas. Every effort has been made to utilize only those drawings which could be constructed economically without sacrificing beauty and comfort.

An unusually large number of floor arrangements and exteriors are shown on the following pages. Each floor arrangement is available in at least three different exteriors. Each exterior is available in a minimum of two floor arrangements. Since each exterior has a different window arrangement, the featured floor drawing illustrates the window layout of the larger sketch at the top of each page. The same floor arrangement, however, is available (not illustrated) with window layouts which correspond with the other two exteriors.

Notes have been inserted opposite certain exteriors with hip roofs indicating that these same exteriors are also available with gable roofs. (see exterior F page 8 for an example of a gable roof.) Conversely, certain illustrated exteriors with gable roofs are also available with hip roofs (see exterior A page 19 for an example of a hip roof). Modern exteriors are available for all floor arrangements even though they may not be illustrated. (see exterior A page 24 for an example of a modern roof.) Notes have been made opposite certain floor drawings, stating that these same floor layouts are available in units other than illustrated, such as garage apartments, duplexes and courts. Windows and doors along with bath and kitchen layouts will be rearranged when necessary where the units are joined together.

The majority of the sketches selected are so arranged that they may be located on your lot as illustrated or rotated 90 degrees. Thus, if the dwelling you select does not fit your lot due to its width, or if the front as shown is too narrow for the width of your property, there is a good possibility that the dwelling may be rotated 90 degrees and consequently fill your requirements. We feel that this is a definite advantage for the builder.

Most home books now on the market will not make any changes in their original layouts whatsoever. HARMONIOUS HOMES not only allows alterations but encourages any changes which will make the home more livable for the owner. If any changes such as those listed below are desired, we suggest that you contact us explaining in detail the changes you wish. We will then be able to advise you as to whether the alterations are possible and if there will be any extra charges for this service.

1. Fireplaces may be added or omitted.
2. Arches or solid walls may be placed between living rooms and dining alcoves.
3. A wall may be located in the kitchen so as to form a service porch if one is not shown or if both service porch and kitchen are shown the wall may be removed.
4. Wardrobes have been provided in most drawings since they are most efficient although closets may be provided if desired.
5. The kitchen and bath fixtures arrangement may be altered.
6. All illustrated exteriors are either wood or stucco or a combination of each. These may be varied to meet your individual preference.
7. Bay or picture windows may be added or omitted.
8. The following may also be added: extra rooms, garages, car ports, basements, and space for a central heating unit. (When requesting these changes, specify size and preferred location.)
9. The length or width of any floor layout may be increased or decreased.
10. The floor layouts may be reversed.
11. All drawings are available with a concrete slab floor.

Every possible effort has been expended to make HARMONIOUS HOMES the most flexible home book on the market.

If you are planning to build and none of the following drawings are exactly what you want, we are equipped to prepare working drawings from your own specifications. Simply prepare a rough sketch showing the floor layout with the approximate room sizes, exterior treatment desired together with any other pertinent information regarding your preferences. Accompany this order with a $20.00 deposit and a drawing will be made to scale of the floor layout and two elevations. These drawings will be returned to you along with the price of the completed working drawings. These preliminary drawings may be altered until they meet with your approval, at which time we will proceed with preparing complete working drawings.

NOTE: Each floor arrangement shown on any one page may be ordered with any one of the exterior styles presented on that same page. In some cases, however, the arrangement of the windows and doors may differ slightly from those shown on the illustration.
